

Official Announcement – Studio City Neighborhood Council Ad Hoc Committees

I am pleased to officially announce the formation of two Studio City Neighborhood Council (SCNC) Ad Hoc Committees:

1. Riverwalk Development Ad Hoc Committee

The Studio City Neighborhood Council is establishing an Ad Hoc Committee to gather stakeholder input, coordinate with public agencies, and engage with the Riverwalk development team to promote transparency, accountability, and ongoing oversight throughout the project process.

The Committee will work to identify and help mitigate potential impacts to Studio City infrastructure and surrounding neighborhoods while exploring opportunities for community improvements and public benefits. The objective is to ensure stakeholder perspectives remain represented throughout project planning and development.

Chair: Scott Mandell

2. Disaster Preparedness & Evacuation Ad Hoc Committee

The Studio City Neighborhood Council is establishing an Ad Hoc Committee to consolidate stakeholder input, available resources, and agency commitments to support the development of comprehensive public safety, wildfire mitigation, and evacuation planning for Studio City.

This effort will consider current and projected traffic and population growth, with particular attention to vulnerable areas and constrained evacuation routes to strengthen preparedness and community resilience.

Chair: Chip Meehan

With these appointments, both Ad Hoc Committees will benefit from experienced community leaders with strong backgrounds in Neighborhood Council governance and community engagement. As former SCNC Presidents and Committee Chairs, Scott and Chip bring institutional knowledge, leadership experience, and a demonstrated commitment to dedicating the time necessary to thoughtfully collect stakeholder input, ideas, and concerns in service to the Studio City community.

Stakeholders interested in participating are encouraged to submit an email expressing interest:
